CHICAGO, January 27.-Little Louis Stern a Polish newsboy, was before Justice Wallace yesterday, and told his story by the aid of an purchaser from the laborer, thus doubling his money several times over, because of his being a preferred creditor, and because of the pressing necessities of the firemen and policemen to keep their families from starving. And yet these holders of the compromise bonds are going to the legislature claiming special equitable rights, because of the "magnanimity" they had shown the old city government. It is all humbug. Whenever sorporations or bondholders begin to talk to their debtors in this kind of a manner, whining for sympathy, the public may be certain that they know their claim is unjust. But again, when Major Meriwether makes a collection of any money belonging to the old city, the holders of the compromise bonds can go to him, present their coupons and demand that they shall be paid dollar for dollar. In support of this claim, they will read the section of the city ordinance quoted above, which says the city shall pay it, and the legislature has nowhere that they shall pay it, and the legislature has nowhere that they shall pay it, and the legislature has nowhere that they shall pay it, and the legislature has nowhere that they shall pay it, and the legislature has nowhere the compromise bonds.

And yet "we" were "magnanimous" in accepting the compromise bonds, say these creditors. These magnanimous gentlemen have quite a margin to work under. They have until 1882 in which to work on the State receiver and force him to pay dollar for dollar on the coupons out of any money going into his hands that was not raised by special mandamus for another purpose, and then they can turn their attention to accepting the compromise con-

T. H. LOGWOOD. The Public Schools are Provided for. EDITORS APPEAL-It is well for all perbefore they commence howling for a change—to know how much a people are taxed before they propose to double taxation. In yesterday's APPEAL a correspondent heads character. Miss Marion Singer, as the French housekeeper, was clever and attractive, her singing adding much to the ckarm for educational expenses, and then treats the people to a lecture on the contrast. In the very beginning of his letter your correspondent makes an egregious blunder, as figures will show. The people of Shelby county are taxed as follows, for the public schools

At the rate of $5 05 on the thousand the city schools get $70,495. This is more than enough to run the schools night and day for ten months. What is the use of crying for more taxes when more than is sufficient are impossed. "But these do not bring any more taxes." mposed, "But these do not bring any money school treasury," I am told. If one January 31: Special: 3711, Planters Inst set of taxes do not bring the required amount, what assurance can the chronic grumblers for taxes give that another set will bring in the required amount? If the so-called friends of the schools would set to work to devise better ways to collect what is now due the schools instead of asking for more they would not only improve the condition of the schools, but find a better employment for Hester vs Sooy; 4015, Burke vs Silver. their misdirected energies.
